CHINA DEMANDS REDRESS FROM JAPAN

WANG INJURED AS STUDENTS MAKE ATTACK

FOREIGN MINISTER OF CHINA NEAR DEATH

Nanking, China, Sept. 28 (AP)—A mob of Chinese students clubbed C. T. Wang, Chinese foreign minister, almost to death today, blaming him for not inducing the League of Nations to intervene in the Manchurian controversy between China and Japan.

Only the interference by servants saved Wang from death. The mob beat him with clubs and ink pots and wrecked his office. The minister received three wounds in his chest and his arms and legs were injured.

A detachment of the personal bodyguard of President Chiang Kai-Shek was rushed to the home of Wang, under orders to shoot to kill in case of another attack.

Boycott Goods

Chinese had hoped the League of Nations would act in their behalf against Japan, despite the latter's promise to withdraw her troops from recently occupied areas outside the Japanese owned South Manchurian railway, and despite Japan's declaration she held no territorial ambitions in Manchuria. The council of the league refused China's request for an inquiry into the Manchurian situation.

The attack upon Wang for asserted lack of aggressiveness in pressing China's case before the league followed inauguration of boycotts against Japanese goods in several Chinese provinces.

Wang is 49 years old. He was graduated from Yale with a bachelor of arts degree in 1910. The following year he was active in forming the provisional government in China after the overthrow of the imperial rule. He became foreign minister of the Nationalist government in 1928.

WANT INDEPENDENCE

Tokyo, Sept. 28 (AP)—Movements to make Manchuria a republic independent of China proper, with a provisional government for Kirin province already declared established, were reported today in Rengo News Agency ditspatches from Mukden.

Meanwhile, the Japanese government disavowed inception of any political movement in Manchuria since its troops occupied cities

Henry Ford Opens Stone Schoolhouse As an Experiment

Macon, Mich., Sept. 28. (AP)—Henry Ford today reopened an old stone schoolhouse here as an example of what United States had educationally when she reared some of her greatest men.

His educational experiment is a part of the agricultural work in which the automobile magnate is engaged in Lenawee, Washtenaw and Wayne counties, embracing 12,000 acres of land.

Ford dropped in long enough to witness a demonstration of grain harvesting with machinery of many years ago. He provided luncheon in an old homestead adjoining the school for former pupils of the school, back for a reunion, and for other visitors.

William J. Cameron spoke as Ford's personal representative at the reunion, explaining that the primary purpose of Ford's restoration activities was to preserve a correct history of the development of all industry and of education.

SWEDEN ALIGNS WITH ENGLAND

Gold Standard Is Also Suspended in Norway; Denmark Next?

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—Norway and Sweden were off the gold standard today, apparently as a precautionary step, and the Danish cabinet called a special session of the folkething (congress) for tomorrow to consider whether Denmark, too, should suspend the gold standard.

A suspension bill, which also would reduce the metallic coverage from 50 per cent to 33 per cent, was expected to be introduced in the folkething.

Otherwise the principal financial developments in Europe were further increases in bank rates.

The Irish bank discount rate went up from 5½ to 6½ per cent and that of the Bank of the Netherlands was raised from two per cent to three per cent. Ireland, because its currency is tied up with that of England, already was off the gold standard. The Bank of the Netherlands has announced that Holland does not intend to suspend the gold standard, since stability of the guilder is assured.

Temporary suspension of the gold standard in the two Scandinavian countries was in line with Great Britain's similar action a week ago, their finances having a close connection with those of Britain.

The Finnish Riksbank, on the other hand, said Finland had no intention of following their example.

ITALY'S NAVAL HOLIDAY PLAN UNDER ATTACK

LEAGUE WANTS U. S. TO BUILD UP TO LONDON TREATY

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP)—Current proposals for a year's naval holiday were attacked tonight by the navy league of the United States as tending to widen the gap between the American fleet and those of other treaty powers.

The league said, however, it heartily favors a naval holiday which would help the navy to approach the ratios fixed by the London treaty. Hope was expressed President Hoover would be able to devise one.

The terms under which the administration has informally agreed to Italy's proposal for an immediate one-year armaments truce were criticized.

Unfair Ratios

The league contended that although the London treaty allows ratios of 10, 10.2 and 6-8 for American, British and Japanese fleets of aircraft carriers, crduisers, and destroyers and submarines, the present ratio of underage completed vessels in these categories is 10, 14.8 and 11.2 respectively.

A complete year's holiday would give other treaty powers an advantage of 19.6 over the United States in these categories, and a holiday merely on laying of new keels would yield an average gain to the other navies of 14.3 per cent.

Under the Italian proposal for an armaments truce, advanced to the League of Nations by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, all governments would agree not to increase expenditures for land forces beyond appropriations already voted; to suspend all new naval construction, including replacements, and to build no military airplanes except to replace unserviceable units.

Secretary Stimson has said the proposal is acceptable to this government, provided it can proceed with construction of eleven destroyers for which bids were recently opened.

Congress appropriated $10,000,000 last session to begin construction of these destroyers and the navy plans to ask for $20,000,000 more at the next session.

Other construction now underway includes seven 10,000 ton 8-inch gun cruisers to cost $17,000,000 each; a 13,800 ton aircraft carrier to cost $19,000,000 and three fleet type submarines to cost $4,000,000 each.

Last week Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland and representative in the league's disarmament committee, agreed to the Italian proposal with the exception of the destroyer construction program, which he said must be continued to relieve unemployment.

Patman Will Ask Bonus Payments

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The American Legion's action in sidetracking demands for bonus legislation is regarded by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, as a stimulas toward asking full payment of the certificates at the next session.

Returning today from Detroit where he attended the Legion convention, the Texan said many delegations "swapped bonus for beer" votes apparently "with the acquiescense if not the approval of President Hoover."

"The Legion represents only 25 per cent of the World war veterans," Patman said. "The unorganized majority, I feel sure, wants full payment of this debt at this time. I am renewing my fight for full payment and believe a majority of the house will vote for it."

Court Jury Disbars Leelanau Attorney

Leland, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—A court of three judges late today disbarred Carey J. Cole, former prosecuting attorney of Leelanau county after hearing testimony by sixteen witnesses regarding his dealings with clients.

The decision was given by Judges Fred Lamb of Cadillac, Charles B. Gollingwood of Lansing and Frank L. Covert of Pontiac.

Among the witnesses was Circuit Judge Pram C. Gilbert whose investigation of Cole's dealings while the latter was prosecutor in 1930 started the proceedings. A number of former clients told the court that Cole misappropriated small sums paid to him for settlement of suits.

Assistant Attorney General Paul Eger conducted the prosecution.

McKellar Warns Demo Party Against Taking Stand on Prohibition

Rogersville, Tenn., Sept. 28 (AP)—A warning to his party to avoid the liquor issue in next year's presidential campaign was sounded tonight by Senator K. D. McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, in speaking at a barbecue given in his honor by Democrats of the first Tennessee congressional district.

Nothing but a wet plank, he said, could stand in the way of Democratic victory in 1932. It would result in the loss of millions of dry votes, he asserted, and would not give the Democrats one additional ballot since "the wets are going to vote against Mr. Hoover anyway."

"If we make the fight on economic issues, on the tariff, on just taxation, on economy, on honest government, on enforcing the law against trusts and combinations, on looking after America's affairs, there is not a chance for us to be defeated," the senator declared.

Eliminate Prohibition

"But, if we are misled into making the liquor issue the sole issue in this campaign, we will be put into a false position and one that will give to Mr. Hoover his only possible chance. With the issue out of the platform, we will win in a walk. With the liquor issue in the platform, it will be the only issue, as we all know, and we will lose the advantage of all economic issues and there is no telling what will take place."

Declaring the prohibition laws "have never been enforced by the Republican party," McKellar said he did not think "there should be any provision in the Democratic platform on the liquor question except enforcement of all laws."

McKellar said he believed Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York could win and would make a "splendid president." He suggested, however, that Tennessee's delegates to the Democratic convention should go uninstructed so that "if anything should arise between now and the convention that some other good and honest Democrat would have a better chance to win than Roosevelt, our delegates should be free to cast their votes for that other Democrat."

Would Lower Tariff

Criticising the Hoover administration, Senator McKellar called attention to the existing deficit and asserted that "unless something is done and done quickly, we are likely to have a receiver instead of a president."

The senator advocated lowering of the tariff, reduction of appropriations, increase in the higher brackets on the income tax, abolition of the farm board "as soon as possible," unemployment legislation, no further cancellation of foreign debts, operation of Muscle Shoals and Cove Creek "in the interest of the people," stopping of tax refunds and recognition of Soviet Russia.

He also favored World War veterans being relieved of interest on what they have borrowed on their bonus certificates, and announced that "at the very earliest possible moment I will vote for a cash payment of the remaining part of their obligations."

TOY DESCRIBES MURDER SCENE

Prosecutor Gives Theory of Gang Massacre in Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 28. (AP)—An account of the slayings of three men in a Collingwood avenue apartment house 10 days ago was pieced together by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy from the reports of detectives and a statement by a police witness.

The prosecutor described the slaying as the culmination of what had opened as a friendly conference in which Irving Milberg, Harry Fleischer, Harry Keywell and Raymond Benstein, representing one underworld group, sought an adjustment of certain differences with Joseph Sutker, Herman Paul and Joe Lebovitz. He said he had information that the slaying had been long premeditated and that the conference was merely a ruse to assemble Sutker, Paul and Lebovitz the three victims.

Based on Statement.

Berstein, Keywell and Milberg are in custody. Fleisher has been sought ever since the slaying.

The prosecutor said much of the account was based on an unsigned statement from Solomon Levine who admitted driving the three victims to the conference. He said Levine's statement told how the apparently amicable conference between the eight men was suddenly terminated by the sounding of an automobile horn which was the signal for a fusillade of shots from the pistols of three of the gunmen. He described the three victims as running frantically about the apartment in a futile attempt to evade the bullets.

Prosecutor Toy said the gunmen then fled from the apartment with Levine, pushing the latter out of their car downtown and making an appointment with him for later. He said they apparently planned to kill Levine but his arrest as a police witness thwarted them.

Find More Frauds In Defunct Bank

Detroit, Sept. 28 (AP)—The prosecutor's office announced today that investigations had revealed additional embezzlements of between $100,000 and $125,000 from the defunct American State bank which would result in warrants being issued for Robert M. Allan, former president, and six other former employes of the bank.

Allan already is charged with embezzlement of $200,000. Chester P. O'Hara, assistant prosecutor, said that a portion of the additional embezzlements would form the basis for a new warrant against the former banker. The investigation of the bank's affairs is being continued by the prosecutor's office.

Person Says Vote By Legion Typical Of U. S. As Whole

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 28. (AP)—The American Legion's demand for a nation-wide referendum on prohibition was the action of a cross-section of the country, Congressman Seymour H. Person who attended the Detroit convention as a guest, said in a statement today.

Congressman Person admitted he saw men drinking at the convention but claimed there was no more at the Legion conclave than at other conventions.

"I think the American Legion convention represented better rank and file of those who make up the various states of the union than any convention I ever attended. I see no reason why their action in reference to the 18th amendment cannot be thought of as an action of the cross section of the country as a whole," the statement said.

"Of course I saw plenty of drinking at the convention but no more than I have seen at other conventions, or at conventions generally."

Two men stopped them between Godley and Dwight and ordered them to drive down a gravel road, representing themselves as officers, Hagberg said. He and his companion were guarded by a machine gun while being searched.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—A petition for the abandonment of Dundee as a passenger station was filed with the public utilities commission today by the New York Central.

It was claimed the business does not warrant continuance of the passenger station. The petition suggested passenger business could be handled through the Britton station a few miles away. A hearing was set for October 9.

TEXAN PLANS IMPEACHMENT OF SECRETARY

REP. PATMAN WILL ATTEMPT TO OUST ANDREW MELLON

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—After accumulating data on Secretary Mellon all summer, Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, today reiterated his intention of bringing impeachment proceedings against the treasury head when congress convense.

Citing the law that prohibits a secretary of the treasury from being directly or indirectly interested in trade and commerce, the Texan said Mellon had violated his oath of office. He said the treasury secretary was a stockholder in the Aluminum Company of America and that he and his family owned and controlled the Gulf Oil Corporation and the Koppers company.

Mellon Silent

Secretary Mellon declined to comment on the charges, maintaining the same attitude as when Patman made a similar announcement in Texas some time ago.

It was recalled at the treasury, however, that supreme court decisions had held that ownership of stock in a corporation did not bring a secretary of the treasury in conflict with the law which prohibits him from engaging in commerce.

Previously Secretary Mellon had said that he had severed all business connections when he became secretary of the treasury and had no part whatever in carrying on the business of any corporation.

The Guf Oil Corporation, Patman said, was a holding company which owned many ships under foreign registry. He said the law provides that as secretary of the treasury shall not be "the owner in whole or in part of any vessel."

The proceedings against Mellon, Patman continued, would be instituted by a privileged resolution he plans to introduce. Under usual proceedings, the house member may take the floor on a point of high personal privilege to present the measure. It then may be referred by the speaker to the judiciary committee for investigation.

The action of the house on its committee's report would determine whether Mellon would be tried before the senate, which would act as a court.

Still Directs Board

Patman said he would show that the Koppers company, controlled by Mellon and his associates, was constructing a $200,000,000 steel, iron and coke plant in the Ural mountains for the Soviet.

"Mr. Mellon relinquished his position on the board of directors of the Aluminum company" Patman said, "but, as a stockholder, he directs the board. His brother represents him."

Mellon today declined to comment upon the action of the Aluminum corporation in reducing salaries ten per cent.

Patman's attack is one of a long list upon the secretary of the treasury by members of congress.

At one time congressional investigation of charges that the secertary was acting in conflict with the law was conducted. It was found that he had divested himself of all active business connections.

Stock Exchanges In Germany Closed

Berlin, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Boerse committee announced tonight that stock exchanges throughout Germany will remain closed until further notice.

The exchanges went out of operation last Monday as a result of a temporary suspension of the gold standard by Great Britain.

Another important financial action today was the appointment of Eugene Ernst, a member of the Prussian ministry of trade, to the post of federal commissioner of banks. Clothed with wide powers he will have the duty of correcting tendencies toward credit crises, such as the emergency which developed last July, requiring a realignment of the nation's budget policies and drastic measures to "freeze" foreign investments in Germany.

MAN KILLED IN BARROOM FIGHT

Trooper Shoots When His Command to Stand Back Is Refused

Iron Mountain, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—Shot over the heart during disorder in a barroom at Loretto, Mich., Richard Francini died today in a hospital at Vulcan, Mich.

The shooting occurred at midnight and Francini died several hours later. An unruly crowd menaced two Michigan state troopers who went to the barroom, which adjoins a dance hall, to quell a disturbance.

Trooper Ted Friegel said he shot Francini when the latter refused to obey an order to stand quietly. Friegel was accompanied by Trooper Van Blancensteyn.

The officers said a dance was in progress and that there was a noisy argument in the barroom. Friegel seized a jug and started to carry it to his automobile. At that moment Van Blancensteyn was felled by a bottle thrown by some one in the crowd.

Friegel drew his pistol and commanded the surging crowd to stand quietly. Francini continued to charge at him Friegel said, and the officer fired.

Arthur Stanchini and wife, said by officers to be proprietors of the place where the trouble started, were held for investigation.

Captain O. E. Demaray, of Marquette, in charge of the upper Michigan organization of the state police and Lieutenant Charles Engle, arrived here today to conduct an investigation of the killing.

NO CAUSE FOR ATTACKS, SAYS NOTE TO U. S.

WANTS TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN AT ONCE

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—A demand for "full redress" and withdrawal of Japanese troops today was China's reply to an American note urging peaceful-set settlement of Sino-Japanese troubles in Manchuria.

The note from the Nanking foreign minister dated Sept. 27 and made public at the Chinese legation, charged that Japanese troops still were committing "acts of war."

Identical notes were sent China and Japan by Secretary Stimson requesting an end to fighting and withdrawal of troops from disturbed areas to avoid further hostilities.

"The Chinese government can conceive no other way," the note said, "to satisfy the requirements of international law and international agreements, when international law and internatioal agreements have already been trampled under foot, than for Japan to withdraw her troops immediately from the occupied areas and to give full redress to the aggrieved party, the Chinese government and the Chinese people."

Without Cause

Japanese soldiers occupied Manchurian cities and territories after assertions that the Chinese provoked fighting. The Nanking government contends the Japanese attacks were without cause.

China expressed gratification at the American note and said it was her conviction that it had been prompted by the desire to preserve the "sanctity" of the Kellogg peace pact, which both Japan and China signed.

Then followed assertions that the Japanese had invaded Chinese territory, occupying and "in certain cases" ransacking Chinese towns and murdering Chinese public officers and citizens.

On the day the American note was dispatched, the foreign minister said there was an unprovoked attack by Japanese military planes on Chinese passengers on the Peking-Mukden railroad.

A memorandum accompanying the note said J. D. Thomson, British manager of the railroad, and his wife and family were on a train attacked by the airplanes and that he had reported the circumstances to the British consul general at Tientsin.

Japan Replies

News of similar attacks and of the derailment of a Chinese train with the killing of 30 passengers also were reported in the memorandum which was based on a telegram from the foreign minister.

The memorandum said the Chinese nation had been urged to remain calm "in the belief that the delinquent party will render a full account for its wanton acts."

The text of Japan's reply, previously received, was made public tonight at the state department. It expressed appreciation of the "friendly concern in the fairness of views" of the American government.

Seeks Probe Into Sale of Liquor At Windsor Last Week

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 28. (AP)—The Hamilton Ministerial Association of the United Church of Canada in a resolution adopted today requested the Ontario attorney general to order an immediate investigation into the sale of liquor in Windsor, Ont., and general conditions there during the meeting of the American Legion in Detroit.

The preamble of the resolution declared "the public has a right to know the facts of the situation."

The resolution also stated the Ontario liquor board "should give to the public a monthly statement of the sales in each store and warehouse."

Withdrawal of Gold From U. S. Is Heavy

New York, Sept. 28. (AP)—Uncle Sam's stock of gold decreased nearly $52,000,000 today.

The daily statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York showed that $20,453,600 in gold was withdrawn for export, and stocks of the metal earmarked for for foreign account increased $31,500,000, which is equivalent to the export of that amount.

Gold withdrawn for export included $19,038,000 for shipment to France, $1,210,000 to Holland, $194,000 to Switzerland, $5,000 to Czechoslovakia, $4,000 to Austria, and $2,600 to Germany.

BEER CONFLICT STILL SIMMERS

Bingham and Capper Take Opposite Views on Situation

Washington, Sept. 28. (AP)—The beer conflict that's brewing for congress simmered on today at the capitol.

Opposite sides were stoutly held by two Republican senators, Bingham and Capper. The former went ahead on his plan to back a new four percent beer bill, while the latter issued a lengthy argument against such legislation.

Bingham, who comes from Connecticut, is determined that congress should vote on his bill.

Capper, a Kansan, insists sentiment of the lawmakers overwhelmingly opposes liberalizing the Volstead act. He challenged contentions that the beverage would have salutary economic results.

This division in the Republican ranks extends also to the Democratic fold. It also led Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, to predict both national conventions next year would abandon any attempt to commit their parties on this issue.

Referendum Sought.

Meanwhile it was learned that a movement for a national referendum on prohibition had been begun with the solicitation of views of members of congress by one of the anti-prohibition associations. This organization is reported to be asking members to state whether they favor submission of the prohibition question to state conventions to be called for the sole consideration of the amendment.

Senator McKellar cautioned the Democrats tonight to sidestep the wet-dry dispute in 1932. At Rogersville, Tenn., he told a barbecue audience a wet plank alone could bar the path to victory for his party.

Congress should be compelled to vote on the issue during the next session, in the opinion of Representative Schneider, of Wisconsin, a Republican opponent of national prohibition.

He wants a vote to modify the Volstead act to permit light wines and beer.

"The people want to know how their senators and representatives stand," he said today.

along and outside the South Manchurian railway zone after conflicts with Chinese soldiers. Disclaiming territorial ambitions, Japan said its troops would be withdrawn.

With Chang Hsueh-Liang, 30-year-old governor of Manchuria, remaining in the Rockefeller hospital at Peiping after weeks of illness, Manchurian plotters hoped to oust him from his rule over 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 people in a rich country of 363,610 square miles.

Milwaukee Theatre Man Pleads Guilty

Milwaukee, Sept. 28 (AP)—Charles J. Fox, Milwaukee theater man, today pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to embezzle $216,000 from the National Bank of Commerce. Federal Judge Louis Fitzhenry sentenced him to serve a year and a day and fined him $2,500.

A second count in the indictment, aiding and abetting a conspiracy, was dismissed by the government.

The government charged that Fox was involved in the conspiracy with F. C. Voelz, former savings department manager of the bany. Voelz admitted appropriating $216,000 of the bank's funds, of which sum, it was charged, $30,000 went to Fox. Voelz served a year after having been confined in the county jail almost a year awaiting trial.

Gandhi and Moslem Leader In Parley

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—The conflict between Hindus and Moslems, the settlement of which is one of the most vital problems facing the second Indian round-table conference, was attacked tonight in the privacy of the hotel rooms of his highness, the Aga Khan, Moslem potentate, by Mahatma Gandhi and the Indian prince.

The shawl-clad Hindu leader, who ended his weekly period of silence at 7 p. m., and the Aga Khan talked at length about the relative representation of the two strongest Indian factions in the projected federation of India.

Mr. Gandhi, it was understood, expressed willingness to give the Moslems almost a "blank check" which they might fill in as they willed with concessions from the Hindus in order to assure their cooperation in the federal scheme.

as well as to improve modern practices in both fields.

He deprecated the trend toward centralization in education and deplored the loss of personal contacts and cultivation of character which he said the old district school stimulated. He attacked the cost of merged schools and asserted that 100 standard schools could be built for the cost of some of the consolidated institutions near here.

"The modern school has introduced the lock-step of the penitentiary into the American school room," Ford's spokesman declared. "This experiment is an attempt to see if there is a service which the district school can perform in this generation. It is to be an example on a modest scale of what America had educationally when she reared her greatest men."

FRANCO-GERMAN COMISH FORMED

Group Will Attempt to Smooth Paths of Commerce

BY JOHN A. BOUMAN.
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Berlin, Sept. 28. (AP)—The creation of a permanent mixed commission to smooth the paths of commerce between France and Germany was announced today.

The commission, by means of which the two nations undertake a joint effort to relieve the precarious economic situation and to inaugurate between themselves a period of better understanding, resulted from discussions held during the last two days by Premier Pierre Laval and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France, who are visiting the heads of the German government, and Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius.

Attack Problems.

Both employers and employes will be represented on the commission, which is to attack economic problems in the hope that easier conditions of living, resulting from its labors, may induce the two nations, long divided by troublesome controversies, to be better neighbors.

The creation of the commission was announced to the entire domestic and foreign press by French Ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet who said the commission would deal with the whole range of economic subjects including mercantile, navigation, commercial and air transport problems, without prejudicing the interests of any third party.

The commission's labors will be conducted by government representatives on both sides and, while no names were officially announced, it was reported that Paul Bouisson, president of the Paris chamber of commerce, leader of important French chemical interests and M. Laval's economic right-hand man, who accompanied the French statesmen to Berlin, will be called upon to participate.

Acquitted By Jury On Murder Charge

Hackensaick, N. J., Sept. 28. (AP)—Harry Elbers, accused of slaying Richard Graham, tonight was acquitted by a jury of five women and seven men. The jury's action brought freedom also for Mrs. Elbers, who had been indicted with her husband for the killing ten months ago.

Graham was killed when he went to the Elbers home at Teaneck in response to a summons. Mr. and Mrs. Elbers testified at the trial that Graham had been intimate with Mrs. Elbers but that Elbers had forgiven his wife.

Graham, Elbers testified, taunted him about the incidents and insulted Mrs. Elbers. He became so angered, he said, he shot and killed him and did not realize what he had done until later.

A crowd of about 100 persons cheered and applauded as Mr. and Mrs. Elbers as they left in an automobile from home after the verdict.

Man Shot to Death By Police Officer

Detroit, Sept. 28 (AP)—Police responding to an underworld tip that a saloon at Franklin and Riopelle streets was to be hijacked, today fatally wounded one of two men who refused to halt at their order.

Jack Sorenson, 20, of Port Huron, who first said his name was Hunt, died late tonight of a wound inflicted by Patrolman Earl Berry.

At Receiving hospital, Sorenson told officers he had come to Detroit to drive back a car for a friend. He refused to name the companion who was seated with him in a parked car near the saloon and who escaped. Sorenson said he did not know he was running from an officer.

The shooting is being investigated.

SUIT TO BREAK WILL IS BEGUN

Aged Relative Asserts Ella Wendel Was Mentally Unfit

New York, Sept. 28. (AP)—A battle for one of America's largest fortunes, built up by the eccentric Wendel family and kept intact for generations, was begun today by an aged spinster of Vicksburg, Miss., who had always earned her own living and now says she has no means of support.

The fight for the estimated $75,000,000 estate, left principally to charity by the last of the Wendels, was started when Arthur Garfield Hays and Samuel Untermyer, two of New York's most prominent lawyers, entered suit in federal court on behalf of Rosa Dew Stansbury, 74, to break the will of the late Miss Ella Wendel.

The probating of the will, which had been set earlier in the day for January 25, was enjoined by Federal Judge Julian W. Mack.

Miss Stansbury, a relative in the fifth degree, already had signed a document consenting to the probate of the will, but in the action just started she claims her signature was "purchased" after a "conspiracy."

Many Eccentricities.

The aged southerner charges undue influence and restraint were brought to bear upon Miss Wendel, who, the complaint says, was not capable of drawing up a will.

The complaint lists many of the eccentricities in various members of the Wendel family, which have supplied material for numerous magazine and newspaper articles.

"Although about half her property was bequeathed to the "Methodist church," Miss Stansbury's lawyers contend in their suit, "Miss Wendel was not a steady church-goer and displayed disinterest and positive dislike for all church and missionary activities."

"Ella Wendel did not comprehend the nature and extent of her property," the complaint states, adding that her life was that of a recluse, and that "her chief occupations were the care of a succession of dogs and the assorting and reassorting of the contents of 125 trunks containing effects of no value."

Attention was called to the fact that no provision was made in the will for the care of Miss Wendel's dog, "Tory," upon which she had lavished many thousands of dollars during her lifetime.

Nearest Survivor.

The suit recites that two of Miss Wendel's sisters, Augusta and Georgianna, died in an insane asylum, and that two other sisters, Mary and Josephine, "were reputed to be queer and eccentric."

Miss Stansbury sets forth that she learned Miss Wendel is survived by 24 relatives of the sixth degree, but that she herself, granddaughter of the late Tobias Emerson Stansbury of Baltimore, is the nearest surviving heir.

As the suit was being filed here, dispatches from New Orleans told how Charles Barbat, nephew of Miss Stansbury and a claimant to the estate himself, declared, as he prepared to take part in a $20 prize fight:

"If I got the money the first thing I'd do would be to get the crystal in my watch fixed."

Gets Long Sentence For 'Thrill' Murder

New York, Sept. 28. (AP)—Philip Knapp, 28 years old, recently a quiet, law-abiding husband in West Orange, N. J., decided today to pay for the erratic career that culminated in the "thrill" slaying of a taxicab driver six years ago. He will serve 20 years or more in Sing Sing prison.

After a day of conference with his attorney and his family, he stood before County Judge Lewis Smith at Mineola and said in a sober tone: "I plead guilty."

The charge was second degree murder. Judge Smith immediately pronounced sentence—not less than 20 years, nor more than the natural term of life.

Knapp bowed attentively to the judge. Behind him was his father, William W. Knapp, retired Syracuse, N. Y., manufacturer, his mother and the wife he married under an assumed name.

Walter S. Gifford, national director, named a special committee to concern itself with the general national program of public works and its relation to unemployment.

James R. Garfield of Cleveland, Ohio, former secretary of the interior, was named chairman.

Gifford said the committee "will consider whether, in its judgment, any further useful federal public works could be undertaken to advantage."

This group, the fifth committee appointed by Gifford, will study the entire present program of public works—federal, state and local. Efforts will be made to bring these programs to the highest employment peak possible.

Camp Borden, Ont., Sept. 28 (AP)—G. J. Hitchen, of Winnipeg, a student commercial pilot, was killed here today as his plane collided with another in mid-air at low altitude.

Hitchen, a qualified pilot, was taking a course in aerial navigation. His plane crashed into one piloted by F. B. Briscoe, Chatham, Ont., who also holds a commercial pilot's certificate.

Both men jumped with their parachutes, but the Winnipeg flier was too near the ground and the impact caused almost immediate death. His parachute opened only partly. Briscoe for slightly injured.

Akron Successfully Passes Test Flight

The flight was made without apparent incident. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl ordered the ship up at 10:44 a. m. in the fourth of five scheduled test flights.

The airship was sent through a series of maneuvers designed to determine turning radius. Prior to the flight it had been given speed and control tests.

Cruising northward, the Arkon appeared over Cleveland shortly after noon and then headed out over Lake Erie where it maneuvered for more than an hour.

BISHOPS FAVOR LIBERAL CANON

Would Extend Bounds to Permit Divorcees to Remain in Church

Denver, Sept. 28. (AP)—Liberalization of the canons to permit divorced persons who have been remarried by civil authority to remain in the church, upon approval of an ecclesiastical court, was endorsed today by the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church. This modification of the existing regulations previously had been approved by the house of clerical and lay deputies.

The deputies tonight took up consideration of a marriage and divorce canon proposed by the bishops as a substitute for one adopted by the deputies. The difference between the two were slight. Both the bishops and the deputies agreed upon the establishment of ecclesiastical courts to consider marital cases. The deputies proposed the courts be mandatory in each diocese and missionary district. The bishops proposed canon calls for ecclesiastical courts at the discretion of the divorce. The courts would operate through the bishop.

Under provisions of both proposals, ministers of the church may not solemnize the marriage of any person who has been or is the husband or wife of any person living, from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

May Petition Court.

The liberal flavor of both proposals lies in the provision which allows divorced persons who have remarried to retain their communicant status in the church and be admitted to baptism, confirmation and holy communion. Divorced persons, remarried by civil authority may, under both canons, petition the ecclesiastical court for recognition. Under a favorable decision by the court, acting through the bishop, a minister of the church may bless the union and parties to the union retain their communicant status.

Under the existing canon, ministers of the church may remarry divorced persons who are the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery. This exception was eliminated by both the deputies and the bishops.

The house of bishops voted against recognizing the existence of social disease as an impediment to marriage or grounds for annulment by an ecclesiastical court. This impediment was listed in the deputies canon. Bishop Irving Peake Johnson of Colorado, and others, pointed out difficulty in determining the existence of such diseases and of liberties which might be taken with this impediment to secure annulments in the ecclesiastical courts.

Impediments to marriage agreed upon by both houses are: Consanguinity, lack of free consent, mistaken identity, mental deficiency, insanity, failure of either party to have reached the age of puberty, impotence, and bigamy. These impediments existing before marriage are grounds for annulment in cases before the ecclesiastical courts.

'Dirigible' Will Be Feature Film, Delft This Week

"Dirigible," the Columbia picture which will be shown at the Delft theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, was given highly favorable mention by Mae Tinee in the Chicago Tribune recently. Her review reads as follows:

Well you're blase-er than I am, Gungadins, if "Dirigible" dosen't hand you a thrill.

This film may not be the greatest air film ever made, but, I believe, it is the most intimate. Others may have surpassed it as a spectacle, but no predecessor has made you feel so actively a participant in its doings as does "Dirigible." I don't like storms and I'm scared of airplanes—so—you can well imagine the sufferings of this interested party when, willy nilly, through the sheer realism of the film, she was carried high over the Caribbean sea in a dirigible that encountered a tempest which after giving a most ghastly exhibition of a wind and rain storm at its worst, cracked up the plane and sent it with its gallant crew—and quaking observer—into the lashing, waiting waters! (Long sentence, but there's a lot in it.)

Never on land—or film—have I seen a hurricane so "winged with red lightning and tempestuous."

"Dirigible" is dedicated to the United States navy. A title avers it could not have been made but for the aid of Uncle Sam's experts and a press note before me says: "The bureau of aeronautics made available for location four of its most important naval stations—Anacostia, San Diego, Pensacola and Lakehurst. The latter was the locale of most of the aerial sequences, obviously because it was at Lakehurst that virtually all the lighter than air craft was housed." It is at Lakehurst that the stunning air pageant you gaze upon early in the film's footage takes place.

The piece is big, expensive, informative and entertaining. Though reminiscent of all spectacles of the past, including Columbia's own "Flight"—and on a line with the average polar expedition movie, "Dirigible" has much that is all its own. The direction is superb.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

Scintilating drama of modern love and marriage is offered in "Lover Come Back," Columbia film that opened at the Delft Theatre last night with Constance Cummings, Betty Bronson and Jack Mulhall in the leading parts. Here is a thoroughly interesting film—story, production and acting. How does a "young modern" react when her lover jilts her for what he considers a sweet old-fashioned girl? Around this ultra sophisticated situation a quick moving screen story is built.

Most of the action concerns the efforts of Connie, a little stenographer, to win back the affections of her sweetheart, Tom Evans. Tom had fallen for a shallow flirt, Vivian March, and had jilted the girl who had proven her love for him through months of sympathetic companionship. After Tom's marriage to Vivian, Connie accepts the proposition of Yates, her employer—to share a Park Avenue apartment with him—but the scheme doesn't work; she is a one-man woman and can't forget her first love. Tom's frivolous and mercenary wife eventually brings about her own downfall by succumbing to the wiles of Yates. How Connie tries to sacrifice herself and save Vivian's good name for Tom's sake, but ends by winning back the man she loves, supplies an unexpected and dramatic denouement.

Members of the family of Mrs. O. R. Manley of Belvidere, Ill., the former Miss Sally Nelson, 308 South Nineteenth street, have returned from Belvidere and Harvard, Ill., where they attended the funeral of Mr. Manley, which was held Friday afternoon.

Mr. Manley, prominent business man of Belvidere, died at Highland hospital September 23 from a streptococcus infection which had its inception in a small pimple in the nose. This was on September 4 and soon thereafter a carbuncle developed in the nasal passage. His condition became serious and he entered the hospital September 14. For three hours before his death the spark of life was maintained by administering oxygen.

Mr. Manley was born in Harvard, Ill., October 26, 1893, where he graduated from high school and later the University of Illinois. He entered the service of his country in 1917 and served for the remainder of the war.

On June 18, 1920 he married Miss Sally Nelson, daughter of Mrs. Sophia Nelson of Escanaba, the ceremony taking place in Chicago where Miss Nelson was employed as a trained nurse.

Six cousins acted as pallbearers and 28 young boys, members of Mr. Manley's Sunday school class, acted as honorary pallbearers.

Interment was in Harvard cemetery in the family lot.

During the hour of the funeral services business places in Belvidere were closed and a cortege of unusual length accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

EDITORIAL

A BACKWARD STEP

MICHIGAN newspapers surely will rally to the support of the Ironwood Globe for its editorial criticism of the state conservation department because of the department's decision to discontinue publication of the monthly list of game and fish law violators.

The newspapers of the state welcomed the opportunity to assist the conservation department in curbing violations of the fish and game laws for they realize the strength of the publicity weapon. The conservation department made a good move when it decided to furnish the newspapers with a list of violators every month, but now it is taking the backward step by abandonment of this policy.

The policy was adopted shortly after a scandal developed in Iron county in which a prominent citizen was arrested, but he managed to hide his identity through connivance with the justice of the peace before whom he was arraigned. Such violators do not worry so much about paying a few dollars' fine, but they greatly fear the effect of newspaper publicity, which reveals them as a poor sportsman, taking undue advantage of the animal life and robbing the people of the state of the treasures they jointly own.

In discussing the subject, the Ironwood Globe states:

"In deciding to abandon its policy of making public the list of violators each month, the conservation department is defeating its own purpose. By far the most effective weapon against game and fish law violators is publicity on their arrest. And the purpose of such publicity is to discourage violations."

The Globe argues that the conservation department offers a lame excuse when it says compilation of the list of violators takes up too much of the time of the game wardens, pointing out that the largest number of convictions in Gogebic county in one month was five.

The Globe editorial concludes, "The decision, then, to abandon the policy of making public the names of violators comes with a good deal of surprise. It makes one wonder what is back of it. Have some influential men of the state brought pressure to bear on the conservation department? Or is it sheer laziness that brings about such a decision?"

HERE'S A GOOD CAMPAIGN

THE campaign, which is being launched this week by building supply and service concerns of Escanaba and Gladstone, should result in a boom of new building, repairing and improvement of homes and business structures, which incidentally will be of great help in alleviating local unemployment conditions.

As pointed out by building supply dealers, now is the right time to build, since materials can be purchased at reductions of from 20 to 40 per cent and labor in general is available at lower cost. These dealers have appropriated for an extensive advertising campaign, feeling confident they will be rewarded in the increased building that will result.

There is no reason why Escanaba and Gladstone should not build now for the future. In all likelihood these communities will see a growth of population and commercial and industrial activity as soon as business conditions improve. There should be no hesitancy about the future.

There are many citizens, with goodly sized bank accounts and permanent positions, who could profit by building homes for themselves or else by modernizing the property they now own. Now is the right time to build, both from the standpoint of decreased costs and the aid it will provide for the unemployed.

ADVERTISING RACKETEERS

OUR town may not have the blood-thirsty wops who flourish in the underworld of the great cities, but there is nevertheless a class of racketeers who have their eyes on this city, and are continually slipping in and going out with a generous amount of coin for their meager efforts.

There are very few more harassed personages in the land than the country merchant. He is systematically coaxed, teased, cajoled, and brow beaten by these racketeers (who are looking for easy money) into taking on their own advertising fakes, and schemes are without end in number, and in the main practically all without advertising value.

They range from railroad time cards, hotel registers, cafe menus, door-knob hangers, so-called booster write-ups, to almost every kind of bologna the mind of a human can conjure.

Several years ago illuminated signboards with changing pictures were placed along roads adjacent to the city. Cars whizzing along 40 to 60 had a lot of spare time to read these "advertisements." If they did take their eyes off the road they merely flirted with the ditch, a turn-over, or a smash-up.

Then there came a bunch that sold "advertising" on cars with the order of services of churches. They told the advertisers the local church was hard pressed for cash, and had asked them to help out. The church got 75 cards that were never used, the printer got $5, and the fakers netted $120 for their profits.

The slicker with circus shell game has nothing on these birds when it comes to their "con" games.

Scores of times since coming to this city we have been approached by these fakirs and offered juicy plums if we would cooperate with them in their schemes, and we have invariably turned them away.

We turned them away because in practically every case there was no advertising value in what they had to offer; because their charges to the prospective customer were outrageous; and mainly because they were fakirs, or in modern parlance—racketeers.

There are home activities which must be supported; but the next time one of these so-called racketeers drops into town and tries to divorce you from your much-needed-cash—show him the gate—no matter what kind of advertising he is selling.

If you have any doubt as to the probable advertising value of the proposition these fellows offer, consult your local publisher, who in many instances had the opportunity to analyze the grafts before they were offered to you.

And at the end of the year your bank balance will be the more substantial because you passed up their fakes.—Leader, Pipestone, Minn.

The entire army of Ahmed E was captured.

Capture of the town and t army was preceded by stormi of Mushaid Ridge by Maude superior artillery. His mobile cavalry likewise played a big part.

Ramadie is about 130 mile south and a little east of Mosul.

Attacking the advanced positions on Mushaid Ridge at daw of the day before, after a nigh march, Maude quickly secured th enemy, fought a severe battle during the day, carried the main positions, and then so disposed his troops that the enemy had no avenue of escape.

Critics said it was a fine, finished piece of work.

GUILTY LIPS

(By NEA Service) By Laura Lou Brookman

CHAPTER XXXV

NORMA read the letter a second time—each word clear, standing out with photographic exactness. The words followed one another neatly on the typewritten page. There was nothing wrong with them. The words were all right. It was the meaning—what she had thought that first time—oh, but it was impossible—

Her lips tightened in sudden fright. It couldn't—oh, it couldn't be!

They stared up at her from the harmless white page. Those terrible, unbelievable words! They arranged themselves in two brief paragraphs and at the end was Mark's father's signature. The letter read:

"Dear Miss Kent: Word has just come to me that today in Paris my son was granted an absolute divorce from you without alimony.

"Evidence in the case—taken from police records here in Marlboro—will be withheld from newspaper announcements. This precaution was taken through consideration for you. You will understand that hereafter you have no legal claim whatever on my son. Since Mark's stay abroad has been extended it will be useless for you to attempt to see him.

Very sincerely,
F. M. TRAVERS."

It couldn't be. No, no! "Absolute divorce," "police records," "no legal claim"! The phrases hurled themselves at her. "Useless to attempt to see him!" Oh, dear God, it couldn't mean what she thought it did!

The girl was on her feet now. Her eyes burned too brightly. Her lips were drawn and their color faded. She crossed the room, leaned against the wall and pressed her palms together.

"Divorce," "Divorce without alimony!" Norma closed her eyes attempting to shut out the memory. She could not shut out the sight of those words, dancing on the typewritten page.

Somehow she got a wrap about her, went down the stairs and found herself in the street. The wind had grown colder since nightfall. It blew her skirts, tossed her hair back. It did not occur to Norma that she was hatless and that her hands were bare. Pulling the coat more tightly about her she ran.

• • •

CHRIS SAUNDERS drew the door back. "Why, Norma!" she exclaimed. "What in the world—? Here—come on in!"

Norma Travers did not speak. She entered the dimly lighted room, almost stumbling.

"What's happened?" Chris demanded. "You look like a ghost! Sit down in this chair here and get your breath. Didn't you wear a hat? Why, Norma, you shouldn't—"

Suddenly the younger girl had thrown her arms about Chris' shoulders and was sobbing with great, shaking sobs. She clung to Chris as a child might. The sobbing continued—broke off—then went on again.

"Oh, but Norma, darling! Please! You mustn't let yourself go on like this." Chris was patting the other girl's shoulders, trying to be comforting.

Dorothy's head emerged from the bathroom. She looked at the two girls but before she could speak caught Chris' warning signal and retreated.

"Honey, there's nothing in the world to cry about this way. Try to stop it, won't you, so you can tell me what's wrong?" Chris' efforts to still the onslaught were useless. It was several minutes before Norma raised her head and accepted the handkerchief the other girl gave her. It was longer before she could even try to speak. When she did the words would not come.

"Chris—oh, Chris!" was all she managed to say. There was a fresh burst of weeping.

Suddenly from her purse Norma drew the crumpled sheet of paper that was the letter. "Read it, Chris!" the girl moaned. "Mark's father. He says—he says there's been a divorce!" She buried her face again in the handkerchief.

Chris unfolded the letter. She read it slowly. Her arm slipped about Norma again and held her closely. "Poor darling!" she said tenderly. "Oh, you poor darling!"

"Do you think it's true, Chris?"

The other girl shook her head slowly. "Maybe he's only trying to frighten you," she said, striving to make her voice sound hopeful. "The old devil! Maybe I wouldn't like to tell him what I think of him though! When did you get this?" she demanded, holding up the letter.

"Just before I came over here. It was sent special delivery. Did you read it, Chris? Did you see what it said? I mean about—the police? That means they know everything—"

"Wait a minute! You can't give up so easily. I tell you the whole thing may be a bluff!"

"Oh, if I could only believe that! Tell me it isn't true, Chris! Tell me it can't be. Mark wouldn't do a thing like that to me! He—he couldn't!"

"No. But he didn't know where to write to me. Oh, I'm sure he's sent letters to his father's home only I couldn't get them! I'm sure that he's written! Even if he did know about—about Mount Florence how could there be a divorce when I didn't know about it? It—it isn't fair! They've told him lies, Chris!"

"Of course they have, lamb. No doubt of it."

"Then if they did that isn't there something I can do?"

"Law's a funny business, Norma. You know that. Especially when people who have money start out to get what they want. I've heard of Paris divorces but I don't know much about them. You say you haven't heard a word from Mark since he's been gone?"

Norma shook her head negatively. "I know he'd have written if he could!" she insisted. She stared at Chris and suddenly a frenzied look came into her eyes. "What am I to do? " she cried hysterically. "I can't live without Mark. Oh, what am I to do?"

She fell back in a fit of tempestuous sobbing. It was useless for Chris to try to comfort her, to reassure her that the whole thing was a trick. Chris said these things with a lack of conviction but she kept at her task. She begged Norma not to believe the letter, to keep up her courage. She made rash promises and predictions.

At last she saw all this was ineffectual. Norma had not even heard what she said.

"I've got to go now!" Norma said. "I've got to—to do something!"

Chris put a hand on her shoulder. "You can't go anywhere tonight, Norma. It's too late! You're going to stay here. I'll make a bed on the davenport and you can take mine."

"I've got to go!" Norma insisted.

"But you can't! It's nearly midnight and it's storming out. There's nothing in the world that you could do until morning."

The younger girl looked vaguely troubled. "Midnight?" she repeated.

Dorothy, clad in a yellow striped flannel robe, came into the room. "Hello, Norma," she said casually. "Going to spend the night with us?"

"I—I'm just going."

"Oh, don't do that! Why it's foolish. We have plenty of room."

"Norma doesn't feel very well," Chris said pointedly, "and I've been telling her it's ridiculous for her to leave. Won't you make some coffee, Dorothy? I believe it would do us all good."

"Of course." Dorothy disappeared behind the screen that concealed the gas stove.

It was this other girl's presence as much as anything that quieted Norma. Somehow she could not bare her troubles before a stranger. When the coffee was served she scarcely tasted hers but consented to remain in the girls' apartment for the night. She even docilly took Chris' bed when the other girl arranged blankets for herself on the davenport.

Just before Chris extinguished the lights she paused beside Norma . "Try to get some sleep now, honey," she coaxed. "Things will be a lot better in the morning."

She heard a sob, bent down to the other girl.

Norma whispered convulsively, "Chris—do you think he—doesn't love me any more?"

"Of course he loves you! Everything's going to be all right tomorrow."

In spite of these assurances none of them got much sleep. Norma, whose eyes had not closed until the sky was graying, was the last to wake. She sat up, startled to find herself in the old apartment, and then remembered.

The fragrant odor of breakfast reached her nostrils. Dorothy was putting dishes on the table. Splashing in the bathroom indicated that Chris was having her shower.

"Good morning!" Dorothy said brightly. "Breakfast's almost ready."

Norma arose. In ten minutes she had washed and dressed, and came to the breakfast table. There was an argument about whether or not she should go to work. Norma insisted she was going.

"You ought not to leave this house!" Chris objected. "You're sick and anyone would know it to look at you."

"Anyhow I'm going," Norma said firmly. "I'm not sick. I couldn't stand it to stay around here all day—I've got to be doing something."

"I don't think you're well enough," the other girl repeated. "There's no use trying to stop me. I'm going!"

All three set out together half an hour later. Norma bought a morning newspaper but she did not open it. Chris watched her uncertainly. The younger girl was paler than usual.

"Remember," Chris said as they separated on the tenth floor of the office building. "I'll talk to Brad as soon as he comes in. He'll know the best thing to do. Promise me you won't do or say anything about the letter until I see you at lunch."

"I'll promise."

"See you at 12:30, then," Chris flung over her shoulder as she hurried down the corridor.

She was far more serious half an hour later when she faced Bradley Hart in his private office.

"Then it's true!" Chris said heavily. "There isn't any way to fight back?"

Hart shrugged. "Nothing much you can do without money," he said carelessly. "I'm sorry for the kid. Heard about it at breakfast. Norma's had a tough break."

"But it's unjust! It's not right!"

There was a rap on the door and a boy appeared. "Miss Saunders," he said. "There's a call for you to come over to Room 1016. They want you right away."

Chris flew down the corridor. The door of the office was open and she rushed in.

Frederick Stuart met her. He said anxiously, "Miss Travers fainted. She's in there and I've called a doctor. Will you see if there's anything you can do?"

LYRICS OF LIFE

THE SIGNAL

There is a story of the stars
I heard long, long ago,
About a man who thought old Mars
Inhabited, and so
Suggested all the folk on earth,
The people far and near,
Should yell for all that they were worth
Some day, so Mars would hear.

The time arrived agreed upon,
Around the world the same.
But not a whisper, not a yawn,
From all the people came.
For once a perfect silence fell
North, south and east and west,
For not a person let a yell,
But listened for the rest.

It seems to be the same of late:
We need a shout of cheer,
But all the other fellows wait
The other man to hear.
We need to move, to move ahead
Again with cheery heart,
But all we do is wait instead
For someone else to start.

WHO IS DELTA POTATO QUEEN?

Contest Is New Feature for Annual Show, Oct. 20 to 22

One of the new features of the Third Upper Peninsula Potato, Hay and Grain Show to be held in Marquette, October 20-22, will be the selection of the Potato Show Queen, according to the announcement of D. L. Clanahan, manager. The queen will be selected from those counties cooperating in the show, one contestant being allowed from each county. Township committees have been named in various communities of Delta county to select the local queens, and the Delta county potato queen will be chosen later from the list of contestants.

The only requirements for contestants, Mr. Clanahan says, is that girls be from 15 to 20 years of age, inclusive, and that they live on a farm where potatoes are grown. They will be judged on personality, attractiveness and general appearance.

One of the contests started last year which is enlarged this year, is the premier grower contest, Mr. Clanahan states. Contestants must grow at least three continuous acres of potatoes and will be judged on yield per acre, quality of crop, ability to exhibit, ability to grade, and cost of production. When the field is dug, Mr. Clanahan or the county agricultural agent will weigh the potatoes from a representative area and compute the yield per acre. A one-bushel sample of field run potatoes will be sealed, and graded at the show by the grower. Four Delta county growers are expected to compete in this event.

"This contest last year developed into the feature of the entire show," declared Mr. Clanahan. "For this reason we have increased the total amount offered for this class and increased the number of possible winners from eight to thirteen. The high scoring grower in the contest having five continuous acres will be eligible to the premier grower contest in the entire state. Last year the Upper Peninsula winner, V. L. Soderman, of Crystal Falls, ranked a close second in the state contest and this year we hope to have the winner."

Washington Poster Will Be Presented to All Schoolrooms

Announcement was made by Congressman Frank P. Bohn that every schoolroom of every school in his district will, within a few weeks, receive a beautiful portrait-poster of George Washington, executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these posters is a reproduction of the famous Gilbert Stuart Athenaeum painting and will be 22 inches by 28 inches in size. This poster was selected after a good deal of study, and is considered the finest example of poster making available.

The poster-picture featuring George Washington are being distributed by Congressman Bohn in co-operation with the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission of Washington, D. C., in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of his district in the coming nine-months celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of the Father of Our Country.

Congressman Bohn is in constant touch with the activities of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission which was created by Congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1932.

The United States Commission is placing a good deal of emphasis on the co-operation of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feautre of its work.

Congressman Bohn announced that he will see to it that the schools, clubs, churches, and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The George Washington Bicentnial Celebration will begin on February 22, 1932, and last until the following Thanksgiving Day.

Aged Man, Livina Alone, Needs Stove

An old man of 73, living alone in a building that barely serves to keep off the wind, is facing the winter without means of heating his home, and an appeal has been made for a heater to bring a little more comfort to the barren shelter. Anyone having a discarded small cast iron heater or laundry stove which can be utilized for cooking as well as heating and uses wood for fuel is asked to call Carl Anderson, city poor commissioner, or leave word for him at the city hall, telephone 321, and the stove will be called for and delivered to the aged man. He is now doing his cooking in the open, and sleeping on the floor of his shack without heat. He is able to secure plenty of driftwood as fuel and with a wood-burning heater he will be able to keep from freezing and also do his cooking indoors.

Nation-wide Building Boom During 12-Month Period, Trade Predicts

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, Sept. 28, (AP)—A four billion dollar chorus of workmen sweating over steel and masonry with five billion dollar effect is the vision of building men for the twelve months beginning October 1.

The five billion dollar effect grows out of the increased purchasing power of the 1931-32 dollar as compared with the 1929 dollar.

Second Greatest Industry.

Sponsors of the figures, the national building press group, claim they present an accurate and reliable picture of America's second greatest industry.

Estimates compiled by the division of statistics and research of the F. W. Dodge corporation show that $1,850,000,000 should be spent for building projects of $5,000 or more each during the six months beginning October 1. The building press group then makes what it calls a normal allowance for the fact that the figure covers the least active part of the construction year, and arrives at the impressive $4,000,000,000 total for the twelve months.

Thirty-seven eastern states, the Dodge corporation believes, will spend $1,370,000,000 during the six months. New England's share should be $135,000,000, Metropolitan New York $355,000,000, Upstate New York $62,000,000, Middle Atlantic states $160,000,000, Pittsburgh $135,000,000, Southeastern states $60,000,000, Chicago $154,000,000, Central Northwest states $31,000,000, Southern Michigan $49,000,000, St. Louis $60,000,00, Kansas City $80,0000,000, New Orleans $37,000,000, Texas $52,000,000, and eleven Western states $480,000,000.

560 Million in Homes.

Total residential building for the six months captures $560,000,000 of the estimate; non-residential building gets $680,000,000 and public works and utilities $610,000,000.

Commercial buildings in the 37 states East of the Rocky Mountains account for $143,000,000 of the six months estimate. Factories are predicted at $56,000,000, educational building $120,500,000, hospitals and institutions $37,900,000, public buildings $91,000,000, religious and memorial buildings $21,100,000, social and recreational buildings $35,500,000, one and two-family houses $222,500,000, apartments and hotels $192,500,000, and public works and utilities $450,000,000.

Become Building Conscious.

The public works and utilities include highways, bridges, power plants, water and sewage systems as well as public edifices.

"The figures are lower than the abnormal peak building years just past—but still they show an astonishing volume of work available," says the building press group. "Four billions of dollars (five billion at 1929 values) spent in one year for building construction, is, in the light of other industries, a titanic figure.

"A public more building conscious is coming into the market, encouraged on every hand by lower costs and new and easier methods of building or acquiring buildings.

"The figures presented are cold, stark facts—they have not been colored or arranged to present a favorable outlook; they show the building industry as it is today, and as it will be during the next six months."

ATTACK GIRLS; TWO GET JAIL

Pleas of Guilty Follow Wrecking of Truck on State Road

A fine of $50 and costs was imposed yesterday by Justice H. E. Ranguette on Joseph Noyes, 608 First avenue south, who pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Noyes was unable to raise the money to pay the penalty, and took the alternate sentence of 30 days in the county jail. In addition, his drivers license was revoked for a period of three months.

Officers who made the arrest said that they were called out by a complaint that three men in a truck had attacked two girls on the old state road. The officers found Noyes in the truck, which was ditched at the side of the road, and reported that a case of beer and part of a bottle of liquor was found in Noyes possession. Hubert LaValley, a companion of Noyes, was charged with taking a pocketbook from one of the girls. He said he had burned up the pocketbook, but admitted the theft in court. Judge Ranguette gave him the alternative of making restitution for the $6.95 the purse contained or spending 15 days in the county jail, and La Valley chose the latter.

How Other Cities Feed the Jobless

SAGINAW

EDITOR'E NOTE: This is the seventh of a series of 12 articles on unemployment in Michigan cities. Tomorrow's article deals with Muskegon.)

BY SAM B. McGOOL

Saginaw, Sept. 28, (AP)—Saginaw's unemployment relief is administered largely as a dole, but with all the caution of an efficient welfare organization, outside the realm of politics.

A reorganized welfare department with its corps of seven investigators is in charge of this city's relief program. So careful have these investigators scanned applications for relief that their plan has been humorously termed "the check and double check system." There were 1,545 families on the welfare lists in July, an increase of nearly 200 over the previous month.

J. D. Ayres, chief investigator for the welfare department, which was reorganized in July, claims the city will need an appropriation of $500,000 for its unemployment relief program for the year beginning the last of this month. The department has been limiting its aid to the distribution of food, but with the approach of winter, clothing and fuel will be added to the burden.

Saginaw had no municipal store. City charges are given orders for provisions on grocery stores of the city. In this connection, the welfare department believes in the support of the locally-owned establishments. Stores present vouchers received from the unemployed to the city on the 25th of each month and are paid on the first of the following month. Before the applicant obtains his provisions, the department has detailed data on his home conditions. On each voucher is written the list of the indigent's provisions which he is to receive.

Each man is allowed $1.25 worth of food a week, payable twice a month. Before the reorganization of the department, some families were receiving as high as $25 worth of groceries every two weeks.

Saginaw's system is not altogether a dole plan. Work at 50 cents an hour is obtained when possible, but the city has found few jobs for its unemployed. The number working for their provisions varies between 100 and 150 each week. If possible, the indigent is permitted to work sufficient hours to pay for the entire cost of his provisions.

Saginaw officials are studying welfare systems now in operation in other cities in the state with the probability that changes will be made here before winter sets in.

None of the welfare employes has ever held a political office.

Planting of Trees Advocated to Aid State's Unemployed

Replanting some of the Michigan lands which should be growing forest trees as a method of employing men who will be released from work when the field crops are harvested, says Professor P. A. Herbert, Michigan State college, who holds that this method has none of the disadvantages of some of the relief measures.

Professor Herbert has been in the upper peninsula this week to take part in the dedication of national forests.

"The men engaged in tree planting are working outdoors and are performing a useful task in planting trees which will furnish a profitable crop in future years. The land is not adapted to the growing of field crops and the produce from this land does not compete with the farmers' cultivated acres," he said.

Millions of seedling and transplanted trees are produced by the college forest nurseries and these are sold to Michigan residents for forest plantings at the cost of production. Several varieties of conifers are available at the Dunbar station, Chippewa county, for planting.

In addition to the future profit from the trees, there is an immediate increase of game cover, and the plantings are more attractive to tourists than barren lands, Professor Herbert pointed out.

Spring Plantings in School Forests Are Growing Fine

Four school forests in Delta county were inspected last week by R. F. Kroodsma, forester for the state college extension department, and J. E. Turner, Delta county farm agent. The forests were planted this spring, and are sponsored by schools at Wells, Rapid River, Gladstone and Nahma.

The pines were found to be in fine condition, and the spruce plantings survived about 50 per cent.

Rev. Thelander Retiring From Active Ministry

Of unusual interest to Escanabans, particularly older residents of the city, and those who have been members of the congregation of Bethany Lutheran church for some time, is the announcement that Rev. Philip Thelander, first resident pastor of Bethany Lutheran church of this city, and pastor of Bethany Lutheran church of Batavia, Ill., for the past twenty-five years, is retiring from the active ministry on October 1.

Rev. Mr. Thelander served as pastor of Bethany Lutheran church of Escanaba during two periods. He accepted a call to the pastorate here in 1889, and became first resident pastor of the congregation, remaining for two years. In 1902, he was called for a second period of service, and he returned to Escanaba, serving as pastor here until March, 1906, during which period the congregation experienced an active growth. It was during his pastorate that a basement was placed under the church and a pipe organ installed, the parsonage remodeled and the chapel in North Escanaba built.

In 1906 he resigned to accept a call to the Illinois pastorate, and he was succeeded by Rev. Dr. C. Albert Lund, present pastor of the church.

Concerning a farewell service held for the retiring pastor, the Batavia Herald says the following:

"More than four hundred members of Bethany Lutheran church and other friends of Rev. Philip Thelander throughout this city and vicinity filled every seat in the spacious church auditorium and took all available standing room Sunday afternoon when a farewell service was given in honor of Rev. Thelander, who retires from the pastorate of Bethany Lutheran church after a continuous service of more than twenty-five years and from the active ministry.

"Associate pastors of Rev. Thelander in the Rockford district of the Augustana Synod joined with the local congregation in paying tribute to the long and meritorious service of Rev. Thelander as did the pastors of other denominations in this city.

"At the close of the service Rev. Thelander was presented with a purse and Mrs. Thelander with a bouquet of beautiful roses."

Honoring Pastor

Another event honoring the retiring pastor was a song festival given Sunday evening by a chorus of one hundred voices made up of those who were members of the choir of the church at any time during his pastorate. The pastor was also a guest speaker at the Batavia Kiwanis club meeting, reviewing his pastorate in that city.

The pastor, who was born February 8, 1889, received his college education in Sweden at Upsala University, and, a gifted singer, was a member of the Upsala Singers, a choral organization which has been in existence since 1853. He came to the United States in 1884, and was a professor at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kas., before resigning to take the Escanaba pastorate the first time. He has served as pastor of churches in Elgin, Stillwater, Minn., Escanaba, and Batavia.

Women's Rights Fight Mapped In Belmont Chateau

Washington, (AP) — A stone chateau in France has become unofficial headquarters of the world-wide campaign for womens' nationality rights. The League of Nations will consider the matter at its September meeting in Geneva.

In the stone chateau lives Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, wealthy American society leader who has probably given more money to women's causes in her lifetime than any other woman.

The originality and energy which she once put into brilliant balls in New York and Newport are now expended on the campaign the object of which is to retain nationality rights for all women married to foreigners, and her money has kept open an office in Geneva for the last year.

Miss Alice Paul, an American woman who compiled the report of women's nationality rights in 90 countries, is in charge. The recommendations on nationality made by a consultative committee of women appointed by the League of Nations were based on Miss Paul's report.

Mrs. Belmont keeps in constant touch with the world's news affecting women's rights, and men and women from all over the world who champion feminism stop at her door in Augurville la Riviere.

Though she has never visited it, Alva Belmont House at Washington, headquarters of the national women's party, has become one of the show places of the capital. A $50,000 statue of Joan of Arc, a gift from Mrs. Belmont, is soon to be installed. The most complete library of feminism in the world, another gift of Mrs. Belmont, is stored in fireproof vaults awaiting a suitable place in the house.

The woman who was once a power in America's social world has another hobby besides women's rights—gardens. Immense gardens surround her chateau, Marble House, her Newport home, was also famed for them.

Betty Ann

A Betty Ann reader, Mrs. C. Papineau of Navarino, Wis., has requested a recipe for apple butter made with cider vinegar. If you have one will you call the Daily Press, telephone 693? Or write out the recipe and send it to the Press office.

Mrs. Papineau also sends the department a very good recipe for mince meat which will be found timely now when green tomatoes are plentiful and which will be more than appreciated during the winter months when mince meat is so appetizing.

Green Tomato Mince Meat.

Chop fine, drain off the juice and then measure:

Twelve cups green tomatoes
Twelve cups sour apples

Add eight cups brown sugar; four cups molasses, one cup butter, one cup cider vinegar, two tablespoons cloves, two scant teaspoons allspice, two full teaspoons cinnamon.

Cook slowly in granite kettle or pan on the back of stove for two hours, stirring often to prevent burning.

Add two pounds chopped raisins and cook about one hour longer.

Seal while hot. This makes seven and one-half quarts.

Mrs. C. Papineau,
Box 46, Navarino, Wis.

Two more requests for recipes were received Monday. One is another request for a recipe for apple butter. The second is a recipe for making rusks, requested by a visitor at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, who noted the fine display in the baked goods section and desires some of the recipes. Will you call The Press office, 693, if you have either of these, or write them out and mail them to the Betty Ann department, Daily Press.

NEW LACE DOILIES

The laces over which Great Aunt Caroline ruined her eyesight are now being copied in lace paper doilies. Exquisite Valenciennes, rose point, Battenburg and Mexican drawn work patterns have been reproduced so attractively that more and more they are being used for informal entertaining.

Paper doilies find their places under sherbert glasses, under containers for tomato juice cocktails, under the slice of iced melon and many other services of fruit. Candies, tiny cakes and sandwiches look more inviting when a paper doily lines the serving dish. For children's parties they are both convenient and festive.

COUNCIL PASSES SCHOOL BUDGET

Tax Rate, Despite School Construction, Increases Only 58 Cents

The 1931-32 public school budget, calling for $68,017.30, nearly $300 less than the year before despite the increased costs arising from the construction of the junior high and westside schools, was unanimously approved last night by the city council after it had been submitted to the board of education Friday. The sum raised last year by taxes was $68,-310.

The school tax rate for 1931-32 will be $16.38 per thousand, representing an increase of only 58 cents over the rate of last year. When the $170,000 school bond issue was brought before the people last winter, the board of education promised taxpayers that the increase in the tax rate would not amount to more than 90 cents if the proposed school building program went into effect. The slight increase more than substantiates that claim.

No increase at all would have to have been made had it not been for a large decrease in valuation. This, in addition to increased salary expenditures necessitated by the need of a larger teaching staff due to enlarged enrollment, accounted for the increase in the tax rate.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Handicapped by a weak bond market and the tangled state of foreign currencies, stocks were unable to make much headway today and declined in the last hour when selling was resumed on a moderate scale.

Although Wall Street did not feel that the gold suspensions by Norway and Sweden would have direct repercussion in this country, selling of those countries' bonds, as well as fresh declines in many other foreign listings and U. S. governments, proved distinctly unsettling.

Stocks ruled steady to firm in the morning, feeling their way upward behind the metal and railroad shares. The last hour or so, however, witnessed a resumption of pressure against the general list. Net losses ranged from 1 to 3 points for active issues, while the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite was depressed 1-8 to 83.4, a new bear market low. The turnover fell off to 1,487,050 shares, the smallest since Sept. 10.

General Motors was especially soft, dipping more than a point to 26¼, a new minimum. Selling reflected uncertainty as to maintenance of the present dividend rate into next year. U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Chrysler, Paramount, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse and Bethlehem lost 1 to 1¾ net, while Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Atchison, Rock Island and National Biscuit were off in the vicinity of 2 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.
Chicago, Sept. 28.—Readjustments from a gold basis in various European countries put further weight on grain prices today, despite enlarged purchases of North American wheat for overseas. Sweden and Norway's abandonment of the gold standard was construed as bearish. Late weakness of Wall Street securities was also a disturbing factor.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3-8 to 3-4 cents lower, corn 3-8 to 5-8 down, oats ¼ to 3-4 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

Independent weakness showed itself in the corn market owing to weather well adapted for field work. New crop deliveries of corn sold within a fraction of the season's low price record. Chicago receipts of corn continued liberal. Oats eased with corn and as a result of 856,000 bushels enlargement of the oats visible supply.

Provisions were irregular, lard selling down to the lowest level since 1899, but rallying later on account of buying for cash interests.

Closing indemnities: Wheat Sept. 46 1-8, 48 7-8; Dec. 47½, 48 3-8 to ½; March 50¼, bids; May 51 3-4, 52½ to 5-8.

Corn Sept. 37 1-8, 38 3-4; Dec. 36, 36 3-8 to ½; May 39 3-4, 40 3-8.

Illinois' prison population increased almost six times as fast as the state's total population during the year ending July 1.

How American Legion Voted for Beer

Here is how the American Legion voted by states on a resolution calling on Congress to hold a nation-wide poll to repeal or modify the 18th (prohibition) amendment. The vote by delegates was 1008 to 394 in favor of repeal or modification. A legend explaining the shading of this map appears lower left. At the right is a typical Legionnaire enjoying his beer at Windsor, Ont., across the river from the national convention at Detroit.

U. P. Briefs

Bond Vote Rescinded.

Iron River—Because of lack of interest and the fact that it is not advisable at this time to undertake a big road improvement program, the Bates township board has rescinded a resolution calling for a special election on a $10,000 bond issue.

The board voted unanimously to reconsider its action of a week ago, when 31 petitioners asked the township to provide work for the unemployed.

A survey revealed that Bates township is not hard hit by the industrial depression, as both the Rogers and the Bates mines are operating on a part time schedule.

School Job Rushed.

Bessemer—With all the structural steel in the new high school building, and the greater part erected, workmen from the Worden-Allen Steel Construction Co. are making preparations to move their equipment to Wakefield to use on the high school addition there, according to K. F. Saam, inspector in charge.

Approximately one-third of the steel has been riveted, the steel joists are at the building side with about one-fifth of them in position, and the brick work with the exception of one side has been completed to the second floor, according to Mr. Saam.

Hitch-Hikes to Tech.

Houghton—Undaunted by distance, a strapping youth from below the straits arrived in Houghton last night via the hitch-hike route, ready to start his career as a member of the Class of 1935, which is now enrolling at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Dubbed as "Jube," because he possesses a jubilant disposition, he appeared on the Tech campus with an expression of exultation as the result of having made the trip without impairing his financial reserve.

He is over 6 feet tall and tips the beam at better than 200, so he will don grid regalia for today's practice. He has had several years of high school football experience and should prove a valuable asset to Coach Noblet's squad.

4 Games Booked.

Houghton—After a week's practice of two daily sessions, grid mentor Noblet and his proteges at Michigan Tech feel they have advanced in form over this time a year ago. The department of blocking and tackling has been improved over last year.

Via the cancellation route, Tech's schedule has been upset, leaving Saturday, Oct. 24, open, but several letters are out and it is likely a foe for this date will be secured. To date, the schedule is as follows:

Oct. 2—Superior Teachers College, there.

Oct. 10—Northland College, here.

Oct. 17—Northern State Normal, there.

Oct. 14—Open.

Oct. 21—Northern State Normal, there.

Curb Stocks Move Uncertaintly And Close With Drop

New York, Sept. 28. (AP)—In an apathetic market, curb stocks moved uncertainly today and closed irregularly lower.

The dullness was reflected in the day's transfers, amounting to 300,000 shares, the smallest since the first week in September.

There were some rather wide drops in infrequently traded issues on the sale of a few shares, but the decline in the more popular issues averaged a point or less.

Electric Bond and Share displayed its periods of firmness and worked up to 22 but reacted in late trading as the market turned generally downward, and lost 1¼ net.

Oils barely moved from Saturday's closing level and Standard Oil of Indiana and Cities Service closed only a quarter lower net.

Aluminum of America made another of its wide swings, reacting 4 to close only a point above the year's low, and Aluminum Ltd. reached a new minimum at 25½ off 6½ net.

Athlete Joins Tech.

Houghton—Hubert Skelly of Chicago, a track man who excells in many departments of the sport, has registered at Michigan Tech, coming here from Northwestern University. He is a brother of Lieut. Harold Skelly, manager of the Hotel Scott, Hancock.

During his scholastic activities at Oak Park high school, Skelly won national prominence two years ago when he took the National High school pole vault record with a leap of 12 feet, 11½ inches. Since then he has repeatedly cleared the bar at better than 13 feet.

Celebrates Birthday.

Hancock—Dr. John Wargelin, president of Suomi college, celebrated his 50th birthday anniversary yesterday, the occasion being marked Friday evening by a reception for Dr. Wargelin and his family at the college. Representatives from several local civic organizations, the local schools and a number of Finnish groups were present, while telegrams and other messages of felicitation from all parts of the country were read. The gathering evidenced the high esteem in which Dr. Wargelin is held locally and the many messages indicated the regard in which he is held in other parts of this country and in Finland as an educator, preacher and citizen. A gift from the faculty, students and friends of the college was presented Dr. Wargelin by Prof. Martti Nisonen. A luncheon was served in the college refectory.

New York, Sept. 28. (AP)—The bond market was generally lower today on a heavy turnover in all classes of issues.

Sales totaled $16,297,000 on the stock exchange, a total which was not the highest for a full session this year but which was higher than most others.

The news that Norway and Sweden had gone off the gold standard was not altogether unexpected but the loans of both countries dropped sharply to new low prices. The same was true of Danish bonds.

Several German and Argentine loans moved contrary to the general trend.

The average price of twenty bonds each of industrial, public utility and railroad issues reached another new record low level at 84.8, a net loss of seven tenths of a point for the day. Losses of one point were common throughout the domestic list and a number of them were much larger.

Working On Church.

Ironwood—Exterior brick work on the St. Paul's Finnish Lutheran church on Curry street, which is being rebuilt, has been completed by Johnson & Jacobson, contractors. The project, which it is estimated will cost $10,000, practically consists of building a new church around the old one and considerably larger than the original edifice. The exterior walls are of face brick.

With the completion of the brick work, members of the congregation are now proceeding with the interior and other work. Lath is now being applied in preparation for plastering. It is probable the structure will be completed by Thanksgiving Day. The new church will have twice the seating capacity of the old one.

Eskymos Begin Training for Marquette Squad

COACH SEEKING SIGNAL CALLER

Finman Will Be Lost to Squad for at Least Three Weeks

While the boys who played against St. Joseph's last Saturday were excused from intensive practice last evening, Coach Carl Nordberg of the Eskymos took his second and third string boys aside and sent them through a long scrimmage session at the Escanaba athletic field. Rogers Grove, quarterback of the Michigan State football team last year and who is now a member of the Green Bay Packers squad, visited Nordberg yesterday and was greeted with a pair of moleskins and told to send the varsity boys through their signal drill and to give the punters instructions on how to get the most distance out of their kicks.

Tonight the varsity squad will begin in earnest in preparation for their game next Saturday with the Marquette grid team here.

Nordberg received another dish of grief with a capital "G" yesterday when he learned that Finman, blocking back, would be out of the lineup for at least three weeks with a chipped shoulder, an injury he received against the Parochials last Saturday.

Seeks Quarterback

Nordberg's greatest problem this week is to find a quarterback who can run the team the way it is supposed to be run, a man who can call the right signal at the right time. In the two games played by the Eskymos to date, it has been obvious that the team was utterly without a capable field general and Nordberg realizes that he must find one before his team will click in the right manner. Last night he tried out a dozen men in hopes of finding one who has the snap, fire, brains and confidence of a good quarterback.

With the exception of Finman, the members of the Eskymos squad came out of the St. Joseph game in fairly good shape. Quinn and Harwood who were out of the last game with injuries were not able to report for practice last evening and they may be out of the Marquette game also. At any rate, Nordberg is planning to scout through his second and third string men to attempt to locate some talented reserve material. The scrimmage by these squads last evening was anything but heartening. After a long session which produced nothing but plenty of poor football, Nordberg called the session off and decided to start all over again in his quest for dependable reserve material.

The pass attack of the Eskymos will be given another cleaning and polishing this week in preparation for Carroll Rushton's warriors. The Eskymos failed to unleash their aerial bombardment against the Parochials so Nordberg still is wondering what the boys can do with the overhead game under fire.

At St. Joseph's, Coach Brunelle sent his reserve squads through a long scrimmage session while his first team had a comparatively easy workout. The Parochials have an open date this week but Brunelle is not taking any chances on his boys easing up at this early stage of the season. They will meet the powerful Manistique crew in their next game and Brunelle wants to be certain his lads are in the right mood for that battle.

Miss Evinrude II Reaches St. Louis

St. Louis, Sept. 28 (AP)—Miss Evinrude II last remaining contender in a motor boat race up the Mississippi river from New Orleans, arrived here at 3:21 p. m., today, completing the trip in 78 hours and 46 minutes and thereby breaking the official record of 87 hours and 13 minutes.

George H. Blaich, Jr., and C. F. Schokmiller, pilots of the Evinrude, won $400 in prizes. Whether they will be given the Koenig cup, emblematic of the official speed record between New Orleans and St. Louis, will be decided by the cup committee tomorrow. Capt. Ed C. Koenig, St. Louis motorboat enthusiast and donor of the cup, said there was some question because of several motor part replacements.

Leonard Postpones Fight With Livan

Boston, Mass., Sept. 28 (AP)—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, today notified the Argonna A. A., that an injured leg would prevent him from fulfilling his 10 round engagement with Vit Livan, rugged Italian middleweight, here at the Arena on Wednesday. As a result the bout was put over to a late October date.

Stribling to Fight Again October 27

Atlanta, Sept. 28 (AP)—W. L. Stribling, who lost a chance at the world's heavyweight crown with his defeat by Max Schmeling in Cleveland last July, will fight again October 27.

"Pa" Stribling, his father and manager, announced today W. L. had been matched for a bout with "Big Boy" Peterson in New Orleans on that date.

On Sidelines at Grid Camps

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 28 (AP)—A rehearsal on offensive formations to correct shortcomings repealed in Saturday's practice game with the freshmen, kept the Illinois squad busy for two hours today. Gil Berry and Dave Cook, halfbacks, also received special attention from Coach Bob Zuppke, the former in the art of hanging on to the football, and the latter in defensive play, especially against forward passes.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—The University of Chicago regulars put in a session on the offense to be used against Michigan Oct. 10, while the Maroon reserves were driven through a stiff defensive scrimmage with the freshmen. Coach A. A. Stagg declared himself pleased with the work of his team Saturday, although it was beaten by Hillsdale after Cornell of Iowa, had been defeated in the first game of a double-header.

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach Dick Hanley turned his attention to Northwestern's defense today, after hearing about the power of Nebraska's offense. Nebraska plays were demonstrated on the blackboard and the regulars were given a dummy scrimmage against the freshmen who walked through Cornhusker formations. Al Moore, a veteran halfback, who has been out with injuries, returned but may not start against Nebraska in the opening game of the season Saturday, as Ken Meenani, a big sophomore, has been playing impressively.

Minneapolis, Sept. 28 (AP)—Light offensive drill for the backs and a session on the tackling dummies for linemen marked today's football practice at Minnesota as coaches sought to erase defects in last Saturday's doubleheader with North Dakota State and Ripon. Harder work is anticipated for the Gophers in preperation for the game Saturday with Oklahoma A. and M.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 28 (AP)—With only five remaining practices before the Pittsburgh game, Coach Burt Ingwersen sent his University of Iowa squad through a long offensive scrimmage today. On off-tackle plays and end runs the varsity backs broke away for long gains, but they were unable to punch the yearling line with success.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28 (AP)—Absent without leave during Saturday's practice session, Gregory Kabat, rated as one of the best guards on the Wisconsin football squad, was shifted to the second string line by Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite during today's workout. Announcement that Harvey Kranhold, a tackle, passed an examination and is eligible for varsity play, materially strengthened the line. Pass plays were stressed during the scrimmage.

LaFayette, Ind., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach Noble Kizer today began planning with his Purdue squad for the double-header Saturday with two fairly strong small schools, Coe and Western Reserve. He will split the squad this week, drilling one outfit for Coe and the other for Western Reserve. The Boilermaker coaching staff was well satisfied with the showing made in last Saturday's regulation game with the freshmen.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 28 (AP)—Search for reserve strength and attempts to develop a forward pass defense were made by Indiana university football coaches today. Jones, sophomore fullback whose blocked punt gave Ohio university its touchdown last Saturday, was drilled to improve his kicking.

Columbus, Sept. 28 (AP)—Scouts returning from Cincinnati, Vanderbilt and Indiana, occupied the majority of Coach Sam Willaman's time today while coaches Miller and Hauser led the Ohio State candidates through a light defensive drill. Many injuries resulting from Saturday's scrimmage were given a chance to heal before serious work starts tomorrow in preparation for the opening game with Cincinnati Saturday.

Fighting Spirit Costs Boy's Life

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 28 (AP)—A youngster's code of "do or die" on the football field cost him his life today.

He was 16-year-old McCoy Oakley, star end of Livingston (Tenn.) Academy eleven who played on for two days without telling anyone he had received a chest injury. Thursday he collapsed at practice.

Brought to a Nashville hospital over his protests that he was "all right," doctors found pneumonia had developed. He died today.

WRESTLING

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Sammy Stein, Newark heavyweight wrestler, threw Paul Jones of Houston, Texas, in 10 minutes, 23 seconds of a finish match at the 71st Regiment Armory tonight. Stein ended the bout with a flying tackle and body slam. He weighed 200 pounds; Jones, 208.

ALGERS DEFEAT SPARTANS, 19-0

Rock's Semi-Pro Grid Squad Defeated in First Contest

Rock, Mich., Sept. 28, (Special)—The Rock "Spartan" football team made its debut here today and was defeated in a hard fought game by a much heavier Munising All-Star team by a score of 19-0.

Munising scored early in the first quarter, when, after Rock fumbled the first kick-off, Blizel went seven yards around end for a touchdown. Savoi drop-kicked the extra point.

The teams played on even terms until the third quarter, when a lucky 20 yard pass from Malone to Blizel was completed for a touchdown. The kick failed.

Savoy ended the scoring in the last quarter with a 20 yard end run for a marker. The try for point was no good.

The game was hard fought and closely contested. Munising outweighed the Spartans by fifteen pounds to the man, but they didn't outshine the Spartans in pep and spirit. The Spartans put up a very good fight despite their lack of practice. With a little more chance to work together, the locals will rank well with any U. P. outfit. Rock plays a return game at Munising next Sunday, and will play the Soo Bears at the Soo on Oct. 18.

The line-ups:

Munising—Fleming, qb; Blizel, hb; Savoy, hb; Halloran, fb; Anderson e; Dale, t; G. Anderson, g; Dugas, c; Berbette, g; Siltala, t; Aho, e.

Rock—Fosterling, qb; Larson, hb; Casey, hb; Andrews, fb; Locke, e; Kaukola, t; Downey, g; Bridges, c; Future, g; Salminen, t; Trombly e.

Substitutions: Munising—Malone, Artibise, Kermak and Niemi. Rock—Carlson, Burdick, Kaukola, Huff, Viitala, Salmi.

Referee: Bartel, Escanaba. Umpire: Wurtz, Rock.

CONFERENCE IN SOUTH PLANNED

Eight Colleges Plan to Recommend Action to Their Faculties

Atlanta Sept. 28 (AP)—The formation of a ten-team athletic association within the Southern conference for 1932 seemed probable today with the announcement here that representatives of eight colleges would recommend such action to their faculty athletic committees.

The basis of the association would be uniform scholarship requirements. A statement said the new group was conceived because of a "feeling that the time has come when scholastic standards should be emphasized rather than technicalities in eligibility."

The proposed body, tentatively formed at a meeting here last night, would be limited to 10 Southern conference schools with the following eight as original members:

Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn); Georgie School of Technology; the University of George; the University of Florida; the University of North Carolina; the University of Kentucky; Vanderbelt universit and Tulane university.

The group appointed a committee of coaches to formulate rules and report at another meeting in New Orleans in December, the day before the winter meeting of the Southern conference.

It was said faculty athletic committees at the various schools concerned probably would not give their decision on the proposed organization until that time. Therefore, the new conference, if formed, would not be recognized until next year.

Athletics Downed By Phillies, 5 to 0 In Charity Battle

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (AP)—With Chuck Klein, the National league's 1931 home run king, featuring his specialty the Phillies pounded out a 5 to 0 decision over the Athletics in a game played for the benefit of the Philadelphia unemployment relief fund today.

Less than 4,000 fans paid $8,529.50 to see Klein drive in all of the Phillies runs with four homers off of Waite Hoyt. The Athletics played all of their regulars but got only three hits off of Phil Collins and Ed Dudley.

A triple play in the fifth inning halted the only serious rally made by the Athletics. With Miller on second and Dykes on first, Williams lined to Whitney, whose throw to O'Rourke doubled Miller while the relay caught Dykes before he could scramble back to first base.

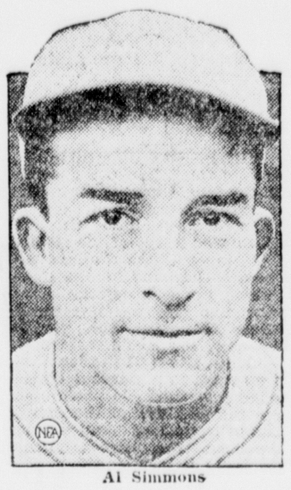
Al Simmons' Big Bat Looms as Dangerous World Series Threat

BY GAYLE TALBOT
(Ass'd Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Taken as a group, the Philadelphia Athletics do not have the greatest outfield in the world, but Al Simmons, the "big punch," himself, plays left field for the American league representatives.

The St. Louis Cardinals boast a fine, well-groomed corps of fly-chasers, but there is no Al Simmons in the lot. Charles "Chick" Hafey, the National league's outstanding slugger, is the closest approach. For the purposes of a short series, in which the championship might ride on a single batted ball, the Athletics hold the aces.

Simmons, who has amassed a .390 average this season to lead the American league for the second time, is likely to break up a ball game any time he goes to bat. The pitchers insist he has no weakness. This year he has made 72 extra-base hits, including 22 home runs, and driven in 125 runs.



Al Simmons

Haas and Miller

Roaming the Athletic gardens with the volatile Al are two veteran teammates, George "Mule" Haas in centerfield and Edmund "Bing" Miller in right. Neither is a star of the first magnitude, but they are capable and they have been through the world series mill for two years. Although he has been handicapped by an injured wrist for the last month and been forced to let young Roger Cramer fill in for him, Haas finished with an average of .326 and had 44 extra-base knocks. Miller, the weakest hitter of the trio, posted a .281 mark.

Conceding Simmons an advantage over Hafey, bespectacled star of the Cardinals, Haas also appears to rate an edge over Pepper Martin, the rookie sensation who opposes him in center. That is, providing the "Mule" has rounded into top shape for the big series. If he has not, the Athletics will find themselves seriously outnumbered in that position. Neither Cramer nor Jim Moore, Connie Mack's best available substitutes, can hold a candle to Martin, who has hit at a .298 clip his first year in the majors. If Martin is unable to play because of his injured leg, wrenched Saturday, Sergeant Street has two capable substitutes in Wally Roettger .318 and Ernest Orsatti .295.

The confident youngster, who this time a year ago was playing with Rochester, is the only new face in either outfield. He is not so accomplished a ball hawk as Haas, but he partly makes up for it in pepper and hustle. He was good enough to win a regular berth this year over Taylor Douthit, one of the smartest outfielders in the business. Whatever he does against Athletic pitching should be an improvement over Douthit's record in the 1930 series—two hits in six games. Haas, for that matter, made only two hits in the last series.

Great Money Player

In George Watkins, the Cards have a right fielder who is at least a stand-off for Miller. His fielding average does not compare with Bing's, 990, the highest of any fly chaser on either club, but Watkins has proved himself slightly the better hitter over the season, with a mark of .285. If Street desires to make a shift against the Athletics' crack southpaws, Grove and Walberg, he has a couple of fine replacements in Roettger and Ray Blades, both righthand hitters. Blades, the club's leading hitter last year, only hit .284 this season, but he is a capable fly hawk.

Of the five regular gardeners who are facing each other for the second straight year, Simmons has proved by far the greatest "money" player. He hit for a noble .364 average in the 1930 classic, while Hafey posted a respectable .273. Watkins .167, Miller .143 and Haas .111.

Some smart baseball men expect Martin if he plays, to prove the individual hero of the approaching series. He has never encountered either Lefty Grove or George Earnshaw, and is blissfully confident he can murder anything they toss at him. He might do it, but until he does the great majority of the fans will look to Simmons for the main fireworks.

BAM-BINO !

Sportsmen Protest High License Fee at Amasa Meeting

Amasa, Mich.—Resolutions protesting against the increased cost of hunting and trout fishing licenses and recommending a general one dollar rod license for all game fish were unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association held here yesterday. The association also unanimously affirmed its belief that the forest fire program should be the outstanding activity, but recommended that the cost of this work be met entirely by legislative appropriation, thereby releasing game and fish funds for game and fish construction.

All of the retiring officers were elected without opposition, and a board of directors, consisting of one member from each club affiliated with the association, was chosen. Laurium was unanimously chosen as the meeting place in 1932. The officers and directors who were elected for terms of two years follow:

President—Peter Trudell, Negaunee.

Secretary—M. G. De Gabriele, Negaunee.

Treasurer—Floyd W. Marble, Gladstone.

15,000 See Packers Defeat Bears, 7-0

Green Bay, Wis.—The Green Bay Packers, professional league football champions, registered their third consecutive win of the season by defeating the Chicago Bears, 7 to 0. The crowd of about 15,000 was one of the largest ever to attend a local game.

The Packers' ability to crowd a little more yardage through the line and check the Bears' vaunted aerial plays represented the margin of victory. A fumble on the Bears' 22-yard line in the second quarter paved the Bays' sole marker. Johnsos and Red Grange starred for the Bears while the play of Dilweg, Stahlman and Sleight were outstanding for the Packers.

Vines and Gledhill Cop Another Meet

Los Angeles, Sept. 28. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, and Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, today defeated the national doubles champions, Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn, Los Angeles, to win the Pacific southwest doubles title, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Van Ryn and Allison never moved into the lead, playing an erratic game against an unusually strong performance of their junior opponents.

The victory raised Vines total of titles for the 1931 season to an even dozen doubles championships. He also possesses thirteen singles crowns, including the national singles title.

CORNELL NEXT FOR SPARTANS

Crowley Informs Squad Second Game Will Be No Snap

East Lansing, Sept. 28 (AP)—Michigan State's football material today was led from its perch of being the nation's leading scoring machines to the reality of another game next Saturday with Cornell College, of Mt. Vernon, Iowa.

The man who took the team back to actualities was Coach James H. Crowley, who studied the scout report of Assistant Coach Harold Smead, and then drug into the records to find that the Iowa team four years ago came here and left the field with a 19 to 13 victory over the Spartans of 1927.

Smead's report told of an eleven stronger than Alma, a team that held Chicago to a 12 to 0 score.

Crowley contented himself today with issuing a few more plays to aid in his team's deceptive tactics and having his men run through a signal drill. Scrimmages await his athletes tomorrow and Wednesday.

Liberty Back

The State eleven appeared in the best physical condition of a week. All hands were out for practice except Jake Fase, big end, but he has made no complaint at training headquarters indicating there is nothing seriously wrong. Bernard McNutt, the reserve fullback, Reuben Dill, reserv tackle and Clifford Liberty, halfback shock trooper, who had been on the injured list, were back in action.

Crowley was determined that his team's 74 to 0 victory over Alma Saturday will not leave its usual attitude of over-confidence. He prepared for hard workouts the rest of the week.

While not discounting Cornell, Crowley was also looking ahead two weeks to the Army at West Point, which will be the first of five major games of the season.

"Hunk" Disgusted With His Ramblers

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 28 (AP)—The 33 Notre Dame football candidates who show the most stuff between now and Thursday, will go to Bloomington Saturday to meet the University of Indiana, and everyone has a chance. Coach Heartley Anderson opened today's two-hour drill with the statement: "I never saw such poor football in my life," as comment on Saturday's practice game against the freshmen.

Templeton Poloists Beat Lacey's Team

Westbury, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Scoring three goals in a rousing last period rally, Devereux Milburn's Templeton polo four defeated Lewis Lacey's Hurlingham team from Buenos Aires, 10 to 8, in a semi-final match of the Monty Waterbury cup tournament on International Field today.

KIPKE EASES UP ON FIRST SQUAD

Two Other Teams Given Long Scrimmage at Ann Arbor

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—Coach Harry Kipke had most of the candidates regarded as first stringers on the University of Michigan football squad running signals during today's practice session, while two teams with some of the "good boys" present engaged in long scrimmage. The punting of Estil Tessmer was a feature of the workout.

Tessmer was on the "slightly injured" list during the first part of practice session, but is rounding into form and looks like a good bet to keep sophomore punters out of the lineup. Protection of the kicker was yet to approach the perfection stage, but the Ann Arbor boy was getting off some good boots without wasting any time.

Harry Eastman, who won his letter in the backfield last season, was in uniform today and has signified his intention of trying for the team. Eastman had informed Kipke he would not be in school this semester.

Injured Men O. K.

Kipke changed his plans and allowed the public to see the workout, he had announced previously that secret practice would begin with the opening of university classes today, but decided today spectators "don't do any harm" and will let them watch at least until Wednesday.

Indications are that most of the injured players will be ready for Saturday's doubleheader against State Normal and Central State Teachers. Howard Auer, veteran tackle, has recovered from an ear infection, and Harry Newman, whose ankle was hurt Saturday, will be in shape.

Kipke has definitely shifted Charles Bernard, 200-pounder from center to tackle, and plans to use Tom Cooke, who wears size 14d shoes, and Auer at center if Maynard Morrison is injured.

Street Denies He Will Start Rookie

St. Louis, Sept. 27 (AP)—Manager Gabby Street of the Cardinals told the Associated Press he would not announce until Wednesday what pitcher he will start against the Philadelphia Athletics in the first game of the world series here Thursday.

"They just surmised that," Street said, when told of published reports he would start Paul Derringer, sensational first year pitcher, in the first game, and follow with "Wild Bill" Hallahan, a southpaw.

Here's Luckiest Boy; He's Cashing In On His Arrest

To quote a worn-out maxim, "It's an ill wind that blows no good."

When A. Frank Aley, Escanaba's super-energetic, high-pressure salesman, was arrested for speeding sometime ago he bemoaned his bad luck, until—he started "talking up" the peculiar little gadget that made his automobile go so fast.

So convincing was his sales talk that even members of the sheriff's department, who had arrested him, each bought one of the ingenious devices that hitches on the distributor of the motorcar.

The incident was interesting enough for the metropolitan newspapers to publish in their news column, and that very same night, Frank, seated by his radio, couldn't believe his ears when he heard the famous Floyd Gibbons announcing the story of his arrest and subsequent coup d'etatt.

Now, Frank is receiving inquiries from all parts of the country concerning the gadget, and orders, too! And, of course, his company has sent him a highly complimentary letter.

Kiwanians Hear Splendid Talk On 'India and Gandhi'

Rev. Robert H. Hannum of Menominee, speaking on the subject of "India and Gandhi", yesterday delivered one of the most interesting talks heard by Escanaba Kiwanians in many a meeting.

Reverend Hannum, an American, was born in India and spent many years in that country. While engaged as a teacher he gained much knowledge of social, political and economic conditions in India which now holds the attention of the entire world because of its struggle for full independence.

The Menominee clergymen also told of the life of Gandhi, the famous Indian leader, who is one of the most talked of men in the world today. Reverend Hannum became intimately acquainted with the Mahatma while living in India. His talk was filled with many facts of timely interest, providing the Kiwanians with first-hand information concerning the subject that is the most widely discussed in newspapers and magazines today.

At the meeting yesterday, members of the Escanaba-Wells Kiwanis club voted to continue the project, in cooperation with the Parent-Teacher associations, for the feeding of undernourished children of poor families.

Luce County Spud Growers to Have Marquette Display

Newberry, Sept. 28, (Special)—The twelve growers of certified seed potatoes in Luce county, the State hospital, V. E. Gormely, W. B. Stevens, Nantel Bros., D. J. Wood, Amos Thompson, O. R. Musgrave, H. J. Skinner, R. Schaefer, F. Taylor, W. Marks and J. Thorley, will enter exhibits at the Upper Peninsula Potato Show to be held at Marquette October 20, 21 and 22. In a message to the farmers, C. W. West, county agent, advises them that prizes will be paid on the following varieties: russet rural, white rural, green mountain, Irish cobbler and any other the farmer may have. Prizes will be paid on the best exhibit from each county and the winnings from this class split up among the exhibitors from each county.

There will be an exhibit of boys' and girls' club potatoes and the tubers in this class must number 32, the standard size being 8 ounces but if they are smooth and well-shaped they may run to 9 ounces. They must be free from disease of all kinds. Mr. West informed the farmers that, as general business conditions are still bad, the farmers must not expect good prices from their certified seed this fall.

A. C. Lytle, sent out by the Cadillac Seed Growers exchange, who visited the certified fields in Luce county two weeks ago, found some evidence of disease among them. He advised the farmers to raise table stock and crops for dairy herds along with their certified seed potatoes so that if something turned up that the certified crop failed to bring returns, the farmer would still have something to rely upon. He also advised them in next year's planting to spray more vigorously and to pull immediately the first hill that showed signs of disease. He urged a 4 per cent nitrogen fertilizer for good top growth which is essential to well shaped and healthy tubers. Professor H. Moore, certified seed inspector from Michigan State college, Lansing, made his second and final inspection of Luce fields the middle of September, and because the farmers had cleaned their fields of the undesirable stock all were passed with his okeh. Because of the danger of frost, Moore advised that the potatoes be dug at once and digging on all the farms started this week. All of the farmers, with the exception of the State hospital, are piting their certified seed and there will be a pit inspection some time in October.

ASSAULT CHARGE

A warrant, the nature of which is not known, has been issued for Emil Lahti, and Mrs. Sam Mattson is in the county jail charged with felonious assault, and is awaiting trial in circuit court, as the outgrowth of a melee which occurred at the Mattson home on East Helen street on the night of September 19, during which time Sam Mattson was attacked and seriously wounded.

The Mattsons have not been living together steadily for some time and Saturday night, Sam, returning home for a pair of shoes, found Emil Lahti in the house with Mrs. Mattson. Going out doors later about dark, Sam was attacked from behind as he stood by a woodpile and before losing consciousness he turned in time to see Lahti wielding a two-by-four. Staggering into the house awhile after, Sam was attacked by Mrs. Mattson with a piece of stove wood. This is the last he remembers until Monday morning when the state police found him lying in bed, the bedclothes soaked with blood. At the Perry-Spinks hospital Sam was found to have five long gashes in his head, which came close to being fatal, and two broken ribs. At the hearing Wednesday, to which Mattson had to be carried on a chair, Mrs. Mattson refuted Sam's charges and claims that that she did not see him until Sunday night and that she slept in the barn Saturday night, hearing Sam come home late drunk and with a party of men. Sam declares that he will prove that he was not drunk Saturday night and that Mrs. Mattson and Lahti for whom the police are now searching, were in the house when he arrived.

The Mattson were under observation at the State hospital some time ago. They have two young children who have been cared for by a home and an older boy, John was sentenced last June to prison for robbery armed. Sam is being cared for by a sister at her home.

EQUIPMENT SHED

Arthur C. Elmer, assistant chief field administrator, arrived in Newberry Saturday to inspect the plans and the work, as far as it has progressed, on the new shed for additional equipment to be built soon at the rear of the conservation office. The conservation department purchased 2 lots some time ago for the erection of the shed which will be one story high, 60 feet by 25 feet in measurement and which will contain 6 stalls for trucks, a loading dock for the tractor and space for the storage of fire fighting implements. The building must be finished by Oct. 15. The concrete curbing from M28 on both sides of the alley at the right of the conservation office, has been completed to the rear lots, which have been scraped and leveled preparatory to the buildings operations. Although most of the department's fire equipment is still out on fire locations, all the men previously used in fighting fire are now idle and will be used on the building project.

MISSKUNIS RECOVERING

Joseph Misskunis, aged 53, who was injured Sept. 18 at the Newberry Lumber Co., Camp 2, when a tree when he had finished sawing, with his partner, August Miller, in falling lodged in the top of another and the butt being thrown back with terrific force on its stump, struck Misskunis across the lower part of the body breaking both legs above and below the knees, is recovering very slowly. It was thought that there were internal injuries but X-ray examinations proved otherwise.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Russell Thorson who has left for Detroit on a business trip will return to Newberry before leaving for Florida where he will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burke have returned to their home in St. Johns after spending the summer at Deer Park.

Sergeant Fred Keune and Harry Frasure who attended the Legion convention in Detroit returned home Friday.

Tom Foster left Friday for Ann Arbor where he will resume his studies at the U. of M.

NEWBERRY JUNGLES

Around forty men are quartered in the jungle west of town. The place presents rather a picturesque sight these days with the multi-colored leaves of the maples and the green of the conifers acting as a background for the stage on which the lumberjacks move about. One may see just about anything here from the simple processes of the jack's cooking to the dubious ritual of the laundry. The men are in a nervous frame of mind for food is becoming scarce and with few of the camps resuming operations and winter just around the corner, their plight looks serious indeed.

Pleads Not Guilty To Perjury Charge

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 28. (AP)—Peter A. Miller, Detroit real estate operator, charged with perjury in connection with his testimony before the Ingham grand jury investigating the Federal Bond and Mortgage company, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr today. He was bound over to the October term of the court, under $3,000 bond which was furnished. Charges against Miller arose over his testimony that two checks for $5,000 and $2,000 were not paid him by the Federal Bond and Mortgage company. The checks were produced in court but Miller claimed they were paid him by a Chicago firm which was re-organizing the company at one time.
